

Ten Key Principles for Overcoming Racism for Educators

Learn ten elements that foster racial discrimination that every educator should recognize, understand, and know how to deal with in their classroom.

When: June 18, 19, 20, 2007, 8 AM to 4 PM

Where: John Burroughs School, 755 South Price, St. Louis, MO 63124

Course Fee: $245

Instructor: Rita Starr, Founder of Healing Our Nation

Sponsor: John Burroughs School

Registration: Daniel Harris, dharris@jburroughs.org

Continuing Education Units (CEUs)

Participants earn two units of CEUs with successful completion of this program. Healing Our Nation has been reviewed and approved as an Authorized Provider by the international Association for Continuing Education and Training (IACET).

What educators have to say about these programs:

Our school has been sponsoring Healing Our Nation programs for our staff and other teachers in the St. Louis area every year for the last five years. I personally find this program so valuable because it helps educators look at racism in a way that fosters understanding, personal reflection, and tools to take into the classroom to help students work with and embrace the wonderful diversity of the human race.

Daniel Harris, John Burroughs School, St. Louis, MO

The Healing Our Nation programs have been powerful instruments for change for me, both personally and professionally. They have given me a heightened awareness and a deeper understanding of the nature and effects of prejudice and discrimination in our country, in my community, in my school district, and in my classroom. They are simple, clear, direct, and personal in their impact.

Gayle Sears, Rockford, IL School District

Healing our Nation, 127 Sun Street, Stelle, IL 60919, 815-256-2228, Email:healrace@aol.com